stowing, required in furtherance of the object of this Act, should be undertaken directly by the Board, the Board may execute or cause to be executed such measures under its own supervision.

(2) For the purposes of this section the Board shall have the right for itself and all persons employed in the execution of any work undertaken under this section to enter upon any property in which the work is to be done and to do therein all things necessary for the execution of the work.

(3) No person shall obstruct or interfere with the execution of any work undertaken under this section, and no person shall remove or tamper with any plant or machinery or any stowing or other material used in the execution of such work.

(4) Whoever contravenes the provisions of sub-section (3) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine or with both."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bill is intended to remedy certain defects disclosed in the working of the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Act, 1939.

The Coal Mines Stowing Board has sometimes in an emergency to execute protective measures under its own supervision, as where a mine is abandoned, or its ownership is in dispute, or the owner is not in a position to undertake protective measures himself. Specific provisions is lacking in the Act conferring the requisite powers for this purpose including the power to enter upon the property concerned; and protective works executed by the Board run the risk of being tampered with after they have been executed. Section 8 of the Act also fails to make clear that the Coal Mines Stowing Fund can be utilised to defray the cost of stowing operations when these are carried out by any other agency than the owner, agent or manager of the coal mine.

Under section 10 of the Act a colliery owner has a right of appeal against an order of the Chief Inspector or an Inspector under section 9(3) requiring him to undertake protective measures. He is, however, required to give effect to the order even though an appeal may be pending.

Clauses 2 and 4 of the Bill make the requisite provisions to remove the first of these defects, while clause 3 supplies a power to suspend the operation of an order requiring protective measures to be taken.
